

Pension process will be linked to family ID

BARWALA (JITENDRA KAUSHIK) - In Barwala BDPO office, verification of 25 old people was done widow and disabled pension by the Social Welfare Department. During this, department employee Prince said that the right beneficiaries were informed a day or two in advance so that they could reach on time for verification of documents.

He said that now the pension process was linked to the family ID. As soon as a person's age reaches 60 years in the family ID, his name was automatically registered in the old age pension category. After this, the beneficiary was called up to the BDPO office for verification of documents.

With this new system, people will get relief from the problem of making repeated rounds and they will be able to get the benefit of pension on time.

She said that the lyrics of the songs and folk facts of this EP that have been released are being uploaded on various social sites by making reels on a large scale. She said that another new song from this EP is going to be released soon.

Bayer launches unique pest spectrum insecticide Camalus

AMRITSAR (FERROZPUR) - Bayer, a global enterprise with core competencies in the life science fields of agriculture and healthcare, announces the launch of Camalus, a unique pest spectrum insecticide designed specifically for Indian horticulture farmers. Camalus brings a dual mode of action with a unique pest spectrum control of chewing and sucking pests, which is a need gap in horticultural crop cultivation. Indian vegetable farmers, especially smallholders, face growing combined pressure from chewing and sucking pest infestations, which often require frequent spray cycles. This, combined with the declining effectiveness of existing products leads to a need gap. Camalus addresses this gap with an innovative dual mode of action that stops pests from feeding quickly and protects the plant from within, both through the roots and leaves. It offers long-lasting protection, reducing the need for repeated sprays-helping farmers save on time, input costs, and labour. Vegetable growers, particularly those cultivating tomato, brinjal, chilli, cabbage, and okra, will find Camalus a powerful solution when used in the early crop stages. Speaking on the launch, Mohan Babu, Cluster Commercial Lead, Crop Science Division of Bayer in India, Bangladesh & Sri Lanka said, "Vegetable crops are central to meeting India's nutritional security needs and hold immense potential to strengthen the country's position in the global export economy. As vegetable consumption rises, ensuring crop productivity and quality becomes even more critical."
